PUBLIC SCHOOL LUXURY

Democrats in Virginia were compelled to swallow some crow in 1896 when they voted for the ratification of the Underwood Constitution. They, however, repudiate two sections, intended to deprive any person of citizenship who had been a member of the Confederate army or had aided the late Southern Confederacy in any way. But there was one good feature, which appealed to the greatest number: that was the plank providing for public schools in Virginia. At first these institutions were not patronized by many parents and guardians, and the former custom of sending children to paid institutions continued for some time.
As the years passed away, however, prejudice against public schools also passed away, and most private institutions of learning closed their doors.

The public school is now a fixed institution, and will remain so. But there are many who thoughtlessly supposed that measures for their betterment or support should have the right of way over everything else and that the steam roller should be used to facilitate every measure devised. It was seen long ago that murmurs would eventually be heard here and there, and instead of murmurs, open protests are now being made in Richmond, as will be seen elsewhere in the Gazette.

Captain Carlton McCarthy may not have intended his "remarks" to have been taken literally when he said negro children were being given parlor sun baths, and fed upon raw eggs at the city's expense, but there are doubtless in Richmond as in other places useless expenditures for public schools when other departments of cities are rendered impotent from the fact that proper appropriations cannot be made under existing conditions. One million dollars are asked of the capital city for the maintenance of the public schools.
A special tax will be necessary for the purpose.

ALCOHOLIC NOSTRUMS

Now that the prohibition law is in force, attention is again being called to certain proprietary preparations which are known to contain a large percentage of alcohol. Druggists are being furnished lists of such preparations and attention called to the fact that in order to handle the products a liquor license will be necessary.

Forty years or more ago analyses were made in Richmond of certain "bitters" and other patent medicines which were very popular at that time.
Most of them claimed to be harmless but upon examination each was found to contain more or less alcohol, and the bulk of some was found to be common whisky. One nostrum, which had a great run, was proclaimed to be a temperance product, and the advertisements were denunciatory of the use of stimulants in any form.
The analysis of this preparation showed that it contained about thirty per cent. of alcohol.

In recent years amusing stories are told of the effects upon persons who used certain preparations which the manufacturers claimed strengthened and invigorated the users. In some cases persons who used the alleged medicines for a time became ill, and doctors were called in. The latter threw bombshells into the households when they declared the patients were suffering from alcoholism.

Now that Virginia is in the dry column, it is earnestly hoped the authorities will do everything possible to enforce the law in letter and spirit. It is a well-known fact that many persons have become drunkards from the use of certain alleged cures for everything, the basis of which were common whisky.

Under the law advertisements of such nostrums in the state of Virginia are forbidden.

SENATOR MARTIN LEADER

For many years a large majority of the voters of Virginia have recognized the worth of Hon. Thomas S.
Martin by keeping him in the United States Senate. His conferees have not been unmindful of his abilities, and from the first they have regarded him as a power in the higher body of Congress. He was minority leader when the republicans ruled the body, but when a democratic majority appeared in the Senate, for reasons best known to themselves, the Virginia Senator was chosen leader by his democratic coadjutors. The latter, however, worked as assiduously as ever, and now his conferees have determined that he is the man above all others to be the majority leader of that august body.

The Late John S. Barbour failed of election for the Senate in the Virginia Legislature after he had cleared the state of the Augean stables incidental to the career of a party which held the reins in the Old Dominion for several years. In 1899, however, Mr. Barbour loomed head and shoulders above all competitors for the Senatorship, and Senator and Delegates took pleasure in rewarding him for his labor for democracy.
While never displaying oratorical powers, he, like Mr. Martin, was a power in the upper branch of Con-

Congress, and his constituents kept him at his post until claimed by death.

The many friends of Mr. Martin, not only in Virginia, but all over the country, will rejoice with him in this further evidence of confidence his brother senators have manifested in him.

The annual convention of the Virginia Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union convened in Lynchburg yesterday with 150 delegates present from local districts representing about 50 counties. National President C. S. Barrett was the principal speaker at the morning session. The afternoon was given up to an executive session. It developed that there is a well-organized effort headed by D. M. Blankenship, Campbell county, who was defeated a year ago for the State Secretaryship, to oust the present officers.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Knocked down and crushed in front of her home by an automobile truck, 6-year-old Elizabeth Sidel, daughter of Rudolph Sidel, Washington hotel man, died on her way to Georgetown University Hospital about 6 o'clock yesterday evening. Elizabeth was crossing the Conduit road to her home near Chain Bridge when struck by the truck, operated by John O. Rabbitt, a Georgetown coal dealer. According to Rabbitt, the child darted across the road directly in his path.

Official Washington honored William Jennings Bryan at a dinner at the Hotel Lafayette last night. Mr. Bryan struck the first blow in his fight to make this country dry. "The Democratic party won without the aid of the wet cities," he pointed out, "and having received the support of nearly all the prohibition States, and the States where women vote, is released from any obligation to the liquor traffic. It is free to take the moral side of this great issue," he continued, "and I have no doubt that it will live up to its opportunities and obligations."

Bucharest, capital of Roumania, and one of the world's strongest fortresses, fell to the Teutons yesterday. There was no siege, not even a regular bombardment. The fortress fell automatically. Ploesti fell a few hours before the capital itself was taken.

Mrs. E. E. Starcher is mayor of Umatilla, Oregon, having defeated her husband in the election Tuesday. Women were elected to all other offices in the municipal government, including four seats in the council, recorder and treasurer.

The British foreign office has issued a statement to the effect that there is reason to believe that press messages do not give an accurate picture of the actual situation at Athens, both because the royalists have succeeded in regaining control of the cable and press censorship, and because the allied press correspondents in Athens are living under threats of personal violence, in common with all those suspected of Venizelist leanings.

Following the example of England, changes of moment can be foreseen also in France. In fact, the coming to a head of the English situation has only hastened in France developments which were before practically certain. The secret session of the chamber of deputies, at which the demands of the French "knock-out" group are being urged, has now almost reached its end. It probably would have lasted several days longer and there is little reason to doubt that the result would have been the same, but after the English action, further discussion has become practically impossible.

The French gunboat Surprise has been sunk by German submarines at Funchal, Madeira, according to an announcement by the Portuguese minister of marine, in a wireless dispatch received in London from Lisbon. Thirty-four of the crew of the gunboat perished.

LYDD-GEORGE MINISTER

Former Chancellor of Exchequer Will Head British Government London, Dec. 7.—David Lloyd-George is virtually prime minister of England. Having administered the knockout blow to Premier Asquith and the coalition ministry, Great Britain's dynamic war minister, accepted yesterday afternoon King George's proffer to act as the shaper of a new government.

He would "endeavor to undertake the task," he announced.

Thus the former chancellor of the exchequer, long looked upon by England's masses as the empire's strongest man, emerged victorious from one of the bitterest and at the same time most suavely fought political combats recorded in Britain's annals.

First—last Saturday—he forced the blast of the long-avoided political bomb by issuing his ultimatum to the government: "Drop Asquith from the war council and reconstruct it or I'll resign."

The threat worked immediately and effectively. Asquith stood pat on the war council proposition. Rather than submit to the indignity of being ignored, as prime minister, in the planning of the great moves that are to decide the war, he said he would resign.

"Then resign," was the implied answer of his Royal Master. Evidently Asquith could be spared.—Lloyd George could not. Meanwhile the latter kept cautiously in the background.

Through an extremely dexterous manipulation of public and official opinion, the impression was provoked that not Lloyd George but Bonar Law, would succeed Asquith should the premier resign. Neither the war minister nor the minister of the colonies—the two are close friends—said a word. Asquith, evidently certain that the "lesser of two evils" would step in his place, relinquished it.

PATENT MEDICINES HARD HIT.

Preparations Are Declared to Be In-toxicants, and Advertisements May Be Barred.

Virginia druggists will save themselves considerable trouble, expense and worry if they will obtain from the state board of pharmacy a copy of the December issue of the Virginia Pharmacist, the official publication, and scan the list of patent medicines which have been placed under the ban of the federal laws because of their alcoholic properties. The preparations can be sold only when the person dispensing them shall have a license to sell alcoholic preparations. There are 250 of these preparations, which have been advertised extensively in the past in publications circulating in Virginia. In this connection the point is raised whether or not these nostrums can now be advertised for the laws forbid the advertising of liquor.

Federal laws place the preparations under the head of liquors. Perusal of the list of inhibited preparations will surprise many persons, for there are hundreds who have testified that the remedies have been of great benefit to them, when government analysis shows that the principal element in them is nothing more nor less than plain whisky. In the publication giving this list the names of the preparations are given along with the name of the manufacturer, and these are scattered all over the country.

CANT INSIST ON FEE.

Attorney-General Rules County Clerks Must Deliver Hunting License For $1.00.

Complaints filed with Fish and Game Commissioner Parsons that certain county clerks are insisting upon a 25 cent fee for issuing county hunting licenses brought a ruling from Attorney-General Pollard yesterday, in which he holds that the law requires court clerks to deliver the county hunting license upon the payment of $1.00.

The fee had been demanded by the clerks under the general law which authorizes them to collect 25 cents for any service for which a fee is not specified. Since the new game law makes no mention of a fee for issuing the hunting licenses, the clerks against whom complaints had been registered undertook to collect for the service.

In ruling on the point, Attorney-General advised Commissioner Parsons that the fee is strictly a matter between the clerk and the licensee, the latter having redress in the courts if he feels himself aggrieved. Neither the Fish and Game Commissioner nor the Attorney-General, he holds, has anything to do with the question of its validity.

Without in any way ruling on the validity of the fee demanded and in some instances collected by certain clerks, the Attorney-General construes the game law as providing that the county license shall be delivered to the applicant for $1 and that no clerk can withhold the license if the applicant declines to pay an additional service fee.

ROUMANIA'S COLLAPSE.

Bucharest's fall does not necessarily mean the complete subjugation of Rumania, such as Serbia suffered, but it must none the less be accounted a severe blow to the allies and a great tonic success. That its effects will be far-reaching is already evident from the collapse of the Asquith Ministry in England, due to the growing indignation of the British nation over the impending fate of their latest ally, and from the increasing activities of the Greek party opposed to the Entente Powers, which is playing Germany's game with even greater boldness.

It has been clear for the past two months that Rumania entered the war with very insufficient preparation. Whether she was led to do this by promises held out by Russia, Great Britain or France, or whether she made the plunge on her own initiative, believing that Austria-Hungary had been rendered helpless by the sweeping Russian victories in Galicia, and that the time was most opportune for grabbing a slice of Transylvania, is not definitely known. It is very plain, however, that her army was in no shape to meet such formidable antagonists as the veteran troops led by von Mackensen and von Falkenhayn. After the first two or three weeks, of the light-hearted dash into Hungary Rumania has suffered reverse after reverse on both eastern and western fronts. The fall of Bucharest comes as a natural consequence of Germany's immense superiority in strategy, resources and men and artillery. Russia has apparently been able to do little for her neighbor and ally.

As the Philadelphia Record observes it is too early to say what influence this last defeat will have upon the plans of the Entente Powers. The English ministerial crisis indicates that popular feeling there demands a more vigorous prosecution of the war, and similar sentiments are reported from France and Russia. Once John Bull has set himself to a task he does not readily give up, as was shown by his tenacity in the Napoleonic wars against great discouragements. This persistence, admirable as it is, can, however, be of little consolation to Rumania for the loss of her capital and much territory. Like Serbia she is apparently to be added to the victims of the war through the incompetence of those who have failed in their promises to her.

Short of coal and forced to burn sixty bags of her cargo of sugar to keep up steam, the Norwegian steamer Fjell arrived at Norfolk, Sunday afternoon from Frederiksted, St. Croix, to take on sufficient bunker coal to carry her to New York. Capt. Carl Huun, said that the vessel ran into bad weather after leaving Frederiksted, taking eight days to make the trip, which under ordinary conditions would have been made in about five days. The vessel had a cargo of 3,400 bags of sugar.

TWO DIE OF RABIES

Untreated Cases Result Fatally in Clifton Forge and in Cumberland

Richmond, Va., Dec. 7. (Special)—The State Board of health has recently received reports of two fatal human cases of hydrophobia, one in Clifton Forge and one in Cumberland County and both attributed to bites by animals not recognized as rabid.

In the Clifton Forge case, a dog ran through the yard of a school and, after biting several children, disappeared and was killed some miles away. No concern was felt about the children and no precautions were taken until one of them developed symptoms of rabies and died. The others, in which the virus was longer developing, were fortunately treated in time.

In the case of the Cumberland child, the patient was bitten by a dog that belonged on the premises but as the animal was not thought to be suffering from rabies, no apprehensions were entertained until the child developed symptoms. Meantime, the dog had died but its symptoms had not been recognized. A calf, bitten about the same time as the child, also developed rabies simultaneously with the child and died. Anti-rabic treatment has since been given those who were also bitten.

"It is the same old story," said Health Commissioner Williams in announcing the deaths "until we have some adequate means of controlling stray animals, we shall not be able to stamp out this horrible but wholly preventable disease."

SPREAD OF DRY WAVE.

Haverhill and Fall River, Mass., Decide Against Further Licensing of Saloons.

Haverhill, Mass., Dec. 7.—The shift of the city into the "dry" column after seven years of license, and the defeat of Mayor Albert L. Bartlett were the features of the election Tuesday. The license vote was: Yes, 3,892; no, 3,938, as against yes, 3,898 no, 3,166, last year.

Mayor Bartlett was defeated by Leslie K. Morse, after a campaign in which the riot prevailed April 3, that followed the attempt of Thomas Leyden to deliver an anti-Catholic lecture, came in for much discussion. Mayor Bartlett was tried recently on a charge of failure to suppress the riot and was acquitted on all but one charge, which is still pending. Yesterday he received 3,570 votes against 1,469 for Morse.

Fall River, Mass., Dec. 7.—This city shifted to the "no" column on the liquor license question Tuesday by returning a majority of 1,459 for no license at the annual city election.

The vote on the liquor license question was: Yes, 6,900; no, 8,359; last year the vote was: Yes, 6,464; no, 1,595.

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 7.—Mayor Frank E. Stacey, Republican, was re-elected over Charles F. Spellman, Democrat, in the municipal election in this city Tuesday by a plurality of 2,267 votes. The city gave a reduced majority for license, 6,498 in favor and 5,756 opposed.

Holyoke, Mass., Dec. 7.—The city Tuesday voted license by yes, 4,381; no, 3,883. The vote in 1915 was: Yes, 4,377, and no, 2,721.

COMPULSORY SERVICE

The four big railroad brotherhoods are preparing to submit to Congress and to the President a plan for the settlement of disputes between the railroads and their employees which will do away with the objectionable "compulsory service" feature of the President's recommendation to Congress Tuesday. The legislation urged by President Wilson would force all employees to remain at work during investigation of the cause of their disputes with their employers, and until settlement, short of strikes and lockouts, had been attempted.

In this position the American Federation of Labor will join hands with the brotherhoods. Samuel Gompers, in an interview in Washington that night, outlined clearly the attitude of the Federation toward this phase of the President's message to Congress, and declared his organization was prepared to "fight it all down the line."

Gompers, stating the position of organization, said, "We will resist every attempt to impose involuntary servitude upon our people. We will demand the right, which we have always possessed, of every employee to cease labor either individually or collectively, whenever the conditions of labor become intolerable."

Mr. Gompers said there was a constitutional prohibition on the imposition of "involuntary servitude" except for criminals.

THE NEW TEMPERANCE DRINK PABLO

"You Can't Tell the Difference"

That is what they all say regarding Pablo, the new non-alcoholic beverage we are now offering to the trade.

Pablo is an unfermented beverage does not contain malt and is absolutely non-alcoholic. It is not a near-beer and should not be confused with the many so-called temperance drinks now being marketed that are really nothing more than fermented malt beverages, with a percentage of the alcohol extracted, the sale of which is liable to be accompanied by risk of prosecution.

Wherever Pablo has been introduced it has met with almost instant favor and popularity, proving to be a good substitute. As compared with other soft drinks, Pablo is in a class by itself—a drink with character and snap to it. It is of a sparkling amber color and has that pleasing hop tang that is a never-failing, never-fading delight to the taste and which at the same time makes it a refreshing healthful and invigorating beverage.

PRICES FOR ANTITOXINS

State Board of Health Makes New Contract for Serums and Vaccines

Richmond, Va., Dec. 6, 1916, (special)—The cost of sickness will not be affected in Virginia next year by the high cost of living. At least the serums and vaccines dispensed through the State Board of Health for the prevention of smallpox, whooping cough, typhoid and tetanus and for the treatment of diphtheria will not only be no higher but will be issued to those who need them at substantially lower figures than at present, according to an announcement made today by the board.

The board has just completed new arrangements on the subject with one of the largest producers of biological products in the country. Under the new contract, the manufacturer, The Lederle Antitoxin Laboratories, agrees to furnish diphtheria antitoxin to citizens of Virginia at 35 cents a thousand units, or 14 cents less than the price previously paid by citizens for like antitoxin dispensed through the board. Tetanus antitoxin, which formerly sold at $1.50 per 1500 units can hereafter be purchased at $1.00 and typhoid vaccine in vials can be had for 21 cents a package instead of 30 cents. The cost of the "syringe package" of typhoid vaccine remains at the old figure, 60 cents. Substantial reduction are made in the price of the various other vaccines and serums handled by the board.

Under the terms of the board's new contract, present arrangements for the collection of bills will be continued. The State assumes no financial responsibility but furnishes the antitoxin to those who need it and are deemed financially responsible, sending a statement of the stock issued to the manufacturer. The bills are then rendered and the collection made by the manufacturer.

In making this contract, the board has added whooping cough (pertussis) vaccine to the supplies already handled and will be able to dispense this to physicians and others at 60 cents per package of three syringes for immunizing patients. The same vaccine, in vials, will be dispensed at 21 cents.

Antitoxin substations, 15 in number, are to be opened and operated in the State by the manufacturer so that all the supplies dispensed by the State can be procured within a reasonable distance by physicians and citizens in any part of the State. The State Board of Health, however, is very anxious to perfect arrangements with county boards of supervisors so that an ample supply of all the preventives it handles will be available for use in the counties.

The State, of course, makes no profit in handling these supplies and dispenses them at absolute prime wholesale cost.
